Why Homeownership Matters

How the quality of life of our Habitat homebuyers has changed after moving into their homes, according to the 2019 survey of Cleveland Habitat homebuyers.

felt they were more knowledgeable about fiscal responsibilities of homeownership after going through the Habitat Homeownership program said their lives have been more stable reported a better financial situation as a result of purchasing a Habitat home

How will the money raised be used?

Greater Cleveland Habitat for Humanity builds, rehabs and sells homes to families with an affordable mortgage and connects them to the community through our neighborhood revitalization projects. Habitat does not give homes away.

All funds raised will be used to support the 400+ Home Initiative. Between now and 2027, Habitat intends to build/rehab 150 homes, help 100 residents with critical home repair, and serve at least 150 residents with minor exterior repairs.

Through the three-plus years of this project, Habitat will assist approximately 1,300 individuals.

Why fundraise?

Housing affordability continues to be a challenge in Cleveland — especially for those earning 30-80% of the area median income. Fundraise so kids have a stable place to call home, so families can build wealth and make traditions and so communities have stakeholders. So, let's work with local families to provide a hand up.

How to fundraise?

Create your donation page at cleHABITATwalk.org.

We encourage everyone to set a fundraising goal of at least $100 (you never know until you try). There are handy instructions to help you set up your page. And, if you need assistance, we are here for you.

1. Make that first donation.
2. Ask your family and friends - small donations add up! (Ask people for their jar of change they have been hoarding since they were 3).
3. From your Habitat Walk account, share your participation on your social media pages and/or via email.

Other cool ideas to raise money:

- Ask the place where you work if they give to charities.
- Have a donation jar at your church, workplace or organization you belong to.
- Maybe you take yoga, funk aerobics or attend a workout class of some kind? See if they would be willing to do a charity donation class.
- See if a local restaurant or bar would host a fundraiser.
- If you are the old-school type of fundraiser, print off our handy dandy fundraising sheet at the end of this packet.
